

Ilha Grande

The island has a 193 sq. km. nature preserve where no cars or roads are allowed. An unspoiled paradise, discovered in 1502!

Ilha Grande is a place where its extreme beauty is emphasized by its ecological tourism, graced by Atlantic Forest trails, 86 exuberant beaches, waterfalls, and fantastic diving spots. In general, services offered by inns, restaurants, bars, and boats, among others, have an artesian touch and carry the personal touches of its owners...therefore, life in the island is considered quite different than city life.

To get to the island travelers must take a boat trip either from Mangaratiba (116 km from Rio) or Angra dos Reis (170 km from Rio). The duration of the boat trip is aprox. 1:30 hs

The commercial activity is concentrated on Abraao Village, where you can find the best infrastructure for the tourism, with most of the hotels and from where all tours departure from.

Among the several activities travelers can enjoy are: boat tours (to secluded beaches, caves, waterfalls, etc); hiking (light, moderate and advanced); diving; surfing; fishing; birdwatching and several other technical visits.
