

Morro de São Paulo - Tinharé

Morro de São Paulo is the main and most visited of the 5 villages of the Tinharé island. The island is located in Bahia, 272 km from the city of Salvador by route and 60 km by sea. The only way to go to the island is by boat or by regular flights that go from the airport of Salvador to the local airstrip. Cars are forbidden on Morro de São Paulo. The only method of motorized transportation on the island is by tractor. One of Brazil's oldest colonies, it still has clean sand, warm water, Atlantic rainforest as well as mangroves and countless virtually deserted beaches.

Morro de Sao Paulo is also a place of cultural heritage, fresh coconut water, caipirinha drinks and the spicy and contagious Brazilian music. When walking through the narrow village streets, you may hear an array of different languages: from English to German, as well as several regional Brazilian accents.

The circle of Capoeira, Brazilian music, delicious sea food spiced on a Bahia-style... everything in Morro is exquisite. Long deserted beaches, exuberant diverse flora, forests with many different bird species, small monkeys, mangrove with navigable channels, natural sea pools, coral reefs and hills with spectacular views! All this in an island that minds its own future: sewage is channeled and treated, which assures clean, safe beaches throughout the year.

The beaches are numbered from the village onward: the First beach is good for marine attractions (Ride a banana boat or rent surfboards and diving equipment), the Second for partying and the Third has some nice natural pools. At Fourth Beach and Praia do Encanto (Enchantment Beach) you can enjoy the peace and quiet along its several kilometers of a virtually deserted shoreline.
